The Challenge

Your business consists of an ever-fluctuating flow of needs. In a perfect world, the contracts, projects, and workloads would come at a constant pace. Creating a portion of your team that is under a flexible work contract is a way many leaders are better managing this challenging problem.

When workflow increases or a major remote project drops into the company, you are faced with several challenges:

- You need to add to your workforce but not over-hire which creates a financial challenge for the company.
- The project is remote and trying to send your staff to a location to the location is proving difficult.
- Need to staff quickly but also need to focus on the project plans, not the hiring process.
- Always looking for new team members, but there is a risk of lost investment if an employee isn't what you hoped for or does not fit into your culture.

Our Solutions

We specialize in finding you top talent in the following areas:

- ▶ Manufacturing
- ▶ Skilled Trades
- ▶ Industrial Trades
- ▶ Security
